WHO: Youth Policy Initiative

WHAT: 2021 Civics & Leadership Camp

WHERE: Virtual

WHEN: Deadline to apply is May 1, 2021

CONTACT: <https://ypisf.org/>

NOTES: The mission of the Youth Policy Initiative (YPI) is to promote civic engagement in underserved youth communities, particularly students with financial need, students of color, and first generation college-bound students. Furthermore, YPI engages students in local and national political issues to raise awareness about current events in society and to gear participants towards a career in politics or political activism by inspiring them to find solutions for the many issues Americans face today. To foster these goals, in Summer 2016 we created and hosted a summer camp called the Civics and Leadership Camp. The Civics and Leadership Camp is a FREE, week-long summer camp for rising 7th and 8th grade students from underserved backgrounds to learn about public speaking, leadership, and the issues facing San Francisco and the country through interactive lessons and simulations. The first camp took place in early June 2016, serving 20 students, and the camp has grown every year since. The 2021 camp date is June 7-11.

Support for Families of Children with Disabilities is a leader in the community it serves. We are in the process of implementing Intent-Based Leadership® as we aspire to fully engage our staff to be empowered to innovate, contribute, and make a difference in the lives of the families they support. This in turn, inspires families to be leaders and strengthen the community.

WHO: The Fatherhood Initiative of San Francisco

WHAT: Empowering Fathers: Virtual Conference Agenda

WHERE: Online

WHEN: Friday, May 21st 10am-4pm

CONTACT: Register

NOTES: This online conference and virtual event brings together a diverse range of Bay Area professionals who work day-in and day-out to guide and mentor fathers through the challenging journey that is fatherhood. For many, 2020 has been a year of reckoning: a year of rising up against systemic racism and facing down a deadly pandemic, of confronting disparities in health care and dealing with a faltering economy. Everyday life was challenging enough, but now, fathers, like others, are facing the added stress of trying to keep it together for themselves and their children, while it sometimes seems like the world is falling apart. This conference is aimed at empowering fathers to gain awareness and discover resources and tools that can help them take care of themselves and their children, now and in the future. We look forward to connecting with you on May 21!

WHO: Bayview Opera House

WHAT: Digital Story Telling

WHERE: Online

WHEN: Now-May 26th, every Wednesday 4pm-6:30pm

CONTACT: smiley@bvoh.org

NOTES: 6-week writing & production workshop. Learn to create, present, and stream original content with Director Mina, playwright Smiley and BVOH production manager Z. The BVOH Youth Writing and Production Workshop is the Bayview Opera House's response to and offering toward the current climate of tension between the Black and Asian communities. The workshops will include facilitated conversations, writing workshops taught by Playwright/ Theater Manager Ashley Smiley, workshops in directing/directing for ZOOM, taught by Crowded Fire Theater Company's Artistic Director Mina Morita as well as classes in virtual event production taught by BVOH Production Manager Z Perdomo. Classes will meet for two hours, once a week, for six weeks that will culminate in a virtual creative work showing. We are hoping to gather a core group of 8-10 Black and Asian high-school aged youth that can commit to the program for its entire duration. This workshop series will hopefully be a space where Black and Asian youth can have open and honest conversations about the current increase in violence against the Asian community and how it is affecting them/what their perspective is, but will also lean towards finding solutions that will bring about healing and understanding between the two communities. The final showing will be a youth-led virtual production, students will also create an ensemble piece that will be featured at the BVOH Juneteenth Event.

WHAT: Invite Community Organizations to Join Fight to End Systemic Racism

WHEN: Deadline: April 30th

CONTACT: Link to complete RFP

NOTES: As part of a ten-year, $100 million commitment to fight systemic racism, Michael Jordan, the Jordan Brand, and Nike are providing $1 million through a new Community Grants program to local, grassroots organizations that are creating more equitable futures for Black Americans. To be eligible for a grant, applicant organizations must have a mission or operate programs aligned with the Jordan Brand. U.S.-based 501(c)(3) organizations working to improve outcomes for the Black community and with an annual budget of $3 million or less are encouraged to apply.

WHO: Dr. Seuss Foundation

WHAT: Welcomes LOIs

WHEN: Deadline: May 1, 2021

CONTACT: <https://drseussfoundation.org/grant-process/>

NOTES: The mission of the Dr. Seuss Foundation is to be a catalyst for improved literacy, broadly conceived, through strategic partnerships and investments. To advance this mission, the foundation welcomes applications for projects that introduce new skills and knowledge in the multi-layered worlds of the arts and humanities, health and well-being, animal welfare, and the environment. Grants of at least $10,000 will be awarded to eligible organizations and projects, with priority given to those serving California and Massachusetts.

WHO: San Francisco Human Rights Commission

WHAT: REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS (“RFQ”) FOR Storytelling and Narrative Shift for the Black Community in San Francisco

WHERE: San Francisco

WHEN: Deadline for RFQ Responses: May 7th @ 5pm

CONTACT: CONTACT: Noah Frigault, noah.frigault@sfgov.org VISIT <https://sf-hrc.org/grant-opportunities> FOR MORE INFORMATION AND APPLICATION DOCUMENTS

NOTES: San Francisco’s diverse Black communities are an integral part of the City’s cultural, intellectual, spiritual, and political fabric. Yet they have often been depicted in a negative light in dominant or mainstream narratives about Black people. As recently noted by Grantmakers in the Arts, “One of the major issues [in contemporary culture] is dominant and/or mainstream narratives that continue to live on and perpetuate racialized practices and outcomes. With a system that is not broken, but rather structured intentionally to foster inequitable and unjust outcomes, the need for narrative change is more urgent now than ever.” The purpose of this funding opportunity is to partner with small nonprofits who have experience working with San Francisco’s diverse Black community to develop storytelling and narrative shift initiatives for the Black community in San Francisco. The stories Black people tell about who they are can reflect our hopes and dreams back to us in profound ways, combat negative stereotypes, advance racial equity, and continue to positively benefit ongoing narratives about what it means to be Black in San Francisco. Successful applicants will have proven success in working with community and delivering actionable projects centering racial equity that harness the power of storytelling for advocacy.

WHO: San Francisco Human Rights Commission

WHAT: REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS (“RFQ”) FOR Community Innovations: Small Grants for Public Housing, Working with Youth, Advancing Social Justice, and/or Restorative Justice

WHERE: San Francisco

WHEN: Deadline for RFQ Responses: May 7th @ 5pm

CONTACT: CONTACT: Noah Frigault, noah.frigault@sfgov.org VISIT <https://sf-hrc.org/grant-opportunities> FOR MORE INFORMATION AND APPLICATION DOCUMENTS

NOTES: Communities of color in San Francisco, especially Black communities, have been taking care of themselves for generations. They have experienced the problems resulting from institutional and structural racism firsthand and know what they need to best address the many issues resulting from that racism. Often, a small funding gap is all that separates these community innovators from moving forward. Specific issue areas in San Francisco are especially ripe for innovation and will see greater community benefit from HRC’s financial and logistical support. The purpose of this funding opportunity is to empower nonprofits to give small grants to individuals and organizations so they can create community innovations that solve specific problems in public housing, working with youth, advancing social justice, and/or restorative justice. Successful applicants will ground their responses in racial equity, community connections, and actionable projects that deliver positive results for target populations quickly.
